

NOVEMBER

Learning in Motion: Connecting Movement, Play, and Early Development

Every roll, reach, and climb helps infants and toddlers discover what their bodies can do and who they're becoming through play. These early movements lay the foundation for confidence, curiosity, learning and growth.

Autumn Sensory Walk

Explore fall with your five senses: see it, hear it, smell it, touch it. This simple, flexible prompt builds observation skills, vocabulary, and personal connections to nature.

Thankful Pie

Create a collaborative class creation full of gratitude with a large-scale paper pie, ripe for family engagement and connection.

Four-Piece Puzzle Printable

This set of printable puzzles from our friends at MAGNA-TILES® features categories like sea creatures, fruit, and vehicles. Bonus: it's NAEYC and HS ELOF alignment!

When I Move, I Learn

Downloadable, print-ready cards highlighting connections to development, step-by-step suggestions, and playful prompts to support infant and toddler gross-motor play.

Making Momentum Matter: Supporting Staff Following Professional Conferences

After a great conference, ideas are flowing but sustaining that energy once everyone's back home can be a challenge. This article offers leaders simple, meaningful ways to turn post-conference energy into real, lasting growth for teachers and children.